

Rolls-Royce Phantom Designer Brings High-Tech to Your Morning Shave

By Eric Rogell
Wed Jul 20, 2011 02:55 PM ET
( ) Comments | Leave a Comment

Print

Email

Arctic shave set courtesy of TwinLuxe

World renowned designer Marek Dzordevic is most well-known for his timeless exterior design of the Rolls Royce Phantom. His new goal? According to Dzordevic, it's to "Embody the values of authenticity and masculine presence in a modern expression of craftsmanship and luxury." In other words, to create super high luxury shaving instruments.

Created exclusively for TwinLuxe, Dzordevic wanted to incorporate materials and finishes you'd normally find in exotic automobiles, fine wrist watches, and even surgical instruments.

Besides the silvertip badger fur (which is the most expensive and rare hair found on the badger's neck, desired for its water retention capacity, softness and durability), the Anthracite edition shaving tools feature black matte PVD coated stainless steel for incredible durability. The Arctic edition is made of 97.5% alumina ceramic, known for its high mechanical strength, stiffness, resistance to chemicals, and unsurpassed wear resistance.

Available at TwinLuxe.com, and select retailers in Beverly Hills, New York City.

Anthracite shave set courtesy of TwinLuxe