Since summer is unofficially underway, it's time to make sure that you have all of the essentials, like a decent pair of sunglasses, but you should also double check that you have a bottle of sunscreen ready to go.

We know what you may be thinking too; "I already have a bottle from a couple summers ago." Unfortunately that's not going to make the cut. Chances are that the already-opened bottle of sunscreen that's been sitting in your medicine cabinet is expired. And, because it's from a few years ago, it may not even live up to current standards set by the FDA – meaning that it doesn't block both UVA and UVB rays.

To make sure that your face and body are protected properly from the sun this summer, here are the 10 best sunscreens for this summer.

7. TwinLuxe – Anti-Aging SPF Moisturizer

This 3-in-1 anti-aging / facial moisturizer / sunscreen is an award-winning product that is highly recommended for men concerned about the aging effects from the sun. Thanks to technology and anti-oxidants, this sunscreen should ease your concerns. It's available HERE for $48.
