

QUICK HITS

Gillette Gets an Upgrade

Remember when you just started needing a razor to scrape off the peach fuzz from your upper lip, and you would look at Gillette razors with envy. That was manhood. Those were simpler times. Thankfully, you aren't that squeaky kid, and a regular Gillette razor just doesn't go with your bathroom decor (because, yes, you care about that now), but damn it if they still don't make some of the best razors. Luckily, Twinluxe has taken the everyday majesty of the Gillette Fusion, and fused it with the bad ass luxury of Anthracite, which, for the uninitiated, is the same stuff that's typically found on Formula 1 racers and hand guns. It's a perfect way to feel even more manly while shaving. [$1,100]

